

Annual Report 2020

ASSOCIATION OF
MUSLIM CHAPLAINS

Welcome Letter

As-Salaamu 'Alaikum,

The Association of Muslim Chaplains is dedicated to serving the needs of our members. This year's Annual Report is all about capturing the dynamic quality of events and services that happened in spite of the COVID-19 and systemic racism-related trauma that we experienced. This year's passionate executive board rose to the challenge and offered an exciting, game-changing year of programming.

For all of its challenges, 2020 has been a tremendous year of growth for AMC. As our members provide spiritual care rooted in Islam to those deeply in need of the rahma (compassion) they offer, AMC's ability to support our chaplains with suhba (fellowship) while cultivating their skills, creating spaces for reflection, and documenting their ministry efforts has been critical to growing and sustaining their, and our, collective capacities.

On every page of this report, we introduce you to the inner workings of AMC, the engines that keep us running strong. You will see faces, smiles, passionate hearts, and boundary-pushing minds. In short, our chaplains. May Allah continue to bless our work.

We seek your forgiveness for any mistakes or shortcomings we've had this year, give thanks to Allah for that which has been bestowed upon us, and ask for your prayers as we move into 2021 together.

Your Humble Servants,

The Board of the Association of Muslim Chaplains

President Ch. Dr. Nisa Muhammad
 Secretary Ch. Usama Malik
 Treasurer Ch. Dr. Quaiser Abdullah
 VP of Healthcare Ch. Sondos Kholaki
 VP of Corrections Ch. Mustafa Boz

- November: Check-in Huddle
- December: Tayba Foundation presentation on Islamic Distance Learning Program for Muslim prisoners

FINANCIAL BREAKDOWN

AMC’s financial position for 2020 (as of the writing of this report) was both positively and negatively impacted by COVID-19. Due to the pandemic, we were able to minimize overall expenditure, since we did not host the annual Shura Conference - our biggest expenditure item. AMC had already paid for plane tickets, many of which were not refunded but held as a credit for future travel.

Our donation goal for 2020 was $2500. As of 11/30/2020, we are just over $650 short of that goal. Our operating budget for 2020 was budgeted at $10,125.

In summer 2020, AMC's treasurer learned that its 501(c)3 status was suspended due to failure to file tax documents for a period of time. We submitted the paperwork/application to get the status reinstated and have implemented a check-balance system to make sure the paperwork gets filed in a timely manner in the future.

Total Expenses	$4,966.24

Balance Summary
Total Income	$9,087.83
Total Expenses	$4,966.24
Balance	$4,121.59

FUTURE CONSIDERATIONS

AMC plans to redesign its website for 2021 and implement a Constituent Management System (CMS). These two goals will help AMC leverage the resources needed for better financial management and reporting, membership and donor management and decreased volunteer workload.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEE & PROGRAMING

- March: The Annual Shura for Chaplains, Imams and Community Providers in partnership with The Islamic Seminary of America (TISA) and the Muslim Endorsement Council (MEC) scheduled for March 21 & 22 at Yale University was initially delayed and ultimately cancelled due to COVID. The theme was “Sacred Activism: Islam & Cross-Cultural Competency” with an excellent line up of programs including a ten year retrospective to celebrate AMC’s first decade. AMC is grateful to representatives Chs. Sharif Rosen and Ibrahim Long who were serving on the organizing committee as well as the partner organizations and most especially Dr. James Jones who has led this initiative for the past decade.
- March: All Members COVID Check-in Huddle
- June: All Members Black Lives Matter Check-in Huddle
- June: Virtual tribute programing honoring Ch. Sohaib Sultan organized by Ch. Maryam Sharieff during which various members and friends shared beautiful stories about the way that Ch. Sultan has touched their lives
- August: Anti-Racism Reading Group led by Ch. Shane Atkinson met four times reading The New Jim Crow by Michelle Alexander
- December: Believers Bail Out webinar
- Forthcoming January: The Conference Committee is hard at work organizing our first all member virtual conference to be held January 30th & 31st. The theme is Rooted in Faith. Confirmed keynote speakers are Dr. Kameelah Mu’min Rashad addressing trauma stewardship and Dr. Omid Safi speaking on the topic of prophetic radical love. Nearly twenty additional sessions covering a variety of topics relevant to chaplaincy will be convened along with a virtual bazaar featuring our program sponsors and networking opportunities. The Committee consists of Chs. Nisa Muhammad, Sondos Kholaki, Mouhamadou Diagne, Usama Malik, Nora Zaki, Aida Mansoor, Mira Abu Elezz and Jaye Starr.

- In March the board was asked to commit to donating, 100% participation was quickly achieved
- AMC extends our gratitude to individual members who have taken the personal initiative to solicit donations from their larger social circles, jazak Allahu khayran.

RESEARCH COMMITTEE

CH. SAMSIAH ABDUL-MAJID, CHAIR

In September AMC launched a research committee to support, conduct, and direct research on issues related to Islamic chaplaincy and the spiritual care needs of Muslims. The committee chair, Ch. Samsiah Abdul-Majid, is serving as a presidential appointee the first year and subsequently, the position will be open to the AMC membership for election every two years. Current members are Chs. Syazana Fatih, Amir Duric, and Eric Bridges, and the committee would welcome others. They began laying the foundation with an October grant writing workshop conducted by Ch. Eleanor Piez and have been working to establish relationships and partnerships with other chaplaincy/spiritual care-related research institutions and professional entities.

Projects:

1. Healthcare Chaplains Study

- a. Continuation of the collaboration between AMC and Boston University School that began with the Mapping Muslim Chaplaincy Project in 2018
- b. Qualitative interview study conducted with 20 healthcare chaplains completed this year, several articles forthcoming on the findings
- c. The aims of the study are: to examine Muslim healthcare chaplains' experiences of competency development, spiritual preparation, and professional certification; the language used to describe spirituality spiritual care, and to examine the integration of chaplains into chaplaincy and spiritual care teams.
- d. Funded by a research grant from the Association of Professional Chaplains-Transforming Chaplaincy program
- e. Led by Dr. Lance Laird of BU with AMC co-investigators Chs. Samsiah Abdul-Majid and Shareeda Hosein

2. Oral History Project

- a. Launched in 2020, this project entails collecting the oral history of Islamic chaplaincy through the stories of approximately 40 pioneers and pathfinder Muslim chaplains
- b. Dr. Nisa Muhammad has arranged for the interviews to be housed in the Howard University's Moreland Spingarn Research Library and thereby accessible to other researchers (notably Howard was the first university to appoint a Muslim chaplain, Imam Johari Abdul Malik, in 1998)
- c. A podcast series will be produced by AMC to share the stories
- d. Dr. Maysan Hayder and Br. Zaheer Ali, an oral historian and educator, conducted seminars for the project team, comprising Chs. Samsiah Abdul-Majid, Seher Siddiquee, Leenah Safi and Captain Rafael Lantigua.
- e. Interviews began in November with Imam Dr. Salahuddin Muhammad, the country's first Muslim chaplain hired by a university (Bard College), and the second AMC President.

3. National Muslim Healthcare & Spiritual Needs Survey

- a. The Research Committee represented by Ch. Samsiah Abdul-Majid has been in collaboration with the initiative on Islam and Medicine (II&M) pertaining to a needs survey; more information in the partnership section.

CONFERENCE REPORTS

HURMA PROJECT CONFERENCE

Ch. Jaye Starr represented AMC at this January conference in Chicago facilitated by Dr. Ingrid Mattson to address spiritual abuse in the American Muslim community. A series of presentations were provided to help organizational leaders think about and develop their institutional capacity to prevent and address such abuse.

ISLAMIC SOCIETY OF NORTH AMERICA'S CONFERENCE

Chs. Muhammad Ali, Mouhamadou Diagne, and Sondos Kholaki represented AMC at the September Chaplaincy Conference gathering. The opportunity to do so provided critical insights into programming aspects of building a virtual conference, while providing networking and opportunities to promote AMC. Additionally Chs. Samsiah Abdul-Majid and Rafael Lantigua presented during the open conference on a panel moderated by Ch. Abdul-Rasheed Muhammad with several others in a session titled Challenges and Opportunities of Muslim Chaplains in American Institutions.

PARTNERSHIPS & COLLABORATIONS

National Chaplaincy Associations

AMC has requested to join a major partnership organized between the Association of Professional Chaplains (APC), ACPE: The Standard for Spiritual Care & Education, Canadian Association for Spiritual Care (CASC/ACSS), Association of Catholic Chaplains (NACC) and Neshama: Association of Jewish Chaplains (NAJC). They have expressed interest in having us join but would like to work through the details and finalize the elements between the current members before adding additional ones.

Bayan Islamic Graduate School, Association of Muslim Healthcare Professionals & Islamic Medical Association of North America

AMC collaborated with the Islamic Medical Association of North America (IMANA), the Association of Muslim Healthcare Professionals (AMHP), and Bayan Islamic Graduate School in the development of a project titled Supporting Frontline Muslim Healthcare Providers which would have provided coping and resiliency-development focused programing. While it wasn't accepted, the process was tremendously beneficial for the learning process and allowed AMC to strengthen our partnerships. AMC was represented in this endeavor by Chs. Khurram Ahmed and Jaye Starr with support from Chs. Samsiah Abdul-Majid and Sondos Kholaki.

Black Muslim COVID Coalition

AMC is represented on the Task Force's Spiritual Wellness Committee by Ch. Quaiser Abdullah; fellow Ch. Abdul-Malik Merchant is also a member. The Taskforce was created to address the need for effective planning, preparedness, and organizing during this global pandemic within Black Muslim communities.

Chaplaincy Innovation Lab

AMC was able to offer members free access to trauma-informed facilitated support calls funded through the Henry Luce Foundation in addition to partnering with CIL for a discernment panel series. A number of AMC members have been featured in CIL webinars and projects throughout the year and CIL's leadership has been a tremendous source of support in a multitude of ways.

CAIR Collaboration

AMC is pleased to be partnering with the Council for American-Islamic Relations (CAIR) on the development of a multi-faceted project to support incarcerated Muslims. The project, currently pending funding, includes a part-time AMC staff member dedicated to recruiting and supporting Muslim corrections chaplains through professional development and guidance on furthering chaplaincy education for those currently without it. One of the primary goals is to increase the presence of trained chaplains in state and federal facilities to better ensure inmates access to their religious rights.

Muslim Endorsement Council

In February AMC entered into formal partnership with the the Muslim Endorsement Council, formally "of Connecticut" but which has re-branded itself as a national organization dropping Connecticut both from its name and by-law board member restrictions. Under this partnership AMC has a representative seat on the board, currently filled by Imam Salahuddin Muhammad who recently completed his term as AMC Board President, and recruits from among its membership body chaplains to serve as subject matter experts during candidates' interviews. MEC is currently applying to be recognized as an endorsement agency by the Department of Defense.

Initiative on Islam & Medicine

AMC is co-sponsoring a national survey of the Initiative on Islam and Medicine (II&M) on Muslim American healthcare and spiritual needs in hospital settings launching in 2021 insha' Allah. These data will identify gaps in their healthcare, and will be used for policy recommendations and to support more detailed studies. Our Research Committee Chair is on the National Steering Committee of the project.

National Muslim COVID Task Force

The American Muslim Health Professionals (AMHP) formed a National Muslim Task Force in March to respond to the COVID-19 pandemic. AMC is among the 40+ organizations represented on the Task Force. The Task Force aims to develop as close to a unified national vision and voice for guidance to Muslim organizations in how to safely and responsibly serve the wider community, where differing federal, state, and city mandates create confusion. Ch. Khurram Ahmed serves as AMC's delegate to the Task Force.

Prophet Muhammad's Love for Diversity and Inclusion Speakers Bureau

In April, AMC was approached by a foundation looking to address anti-Black racism in the Muslim community. AMC has subsequently submitted a funding application to develop a Black Muslim Chaplains Speakers Bureau that will, if funded, provide workshops to educate masjid and universities about Prophet Muhammad's love for diversity and inclusion, a virtual platform to host these workshops and a paid intern to coordinate speaking arrangements. Preliminary speakers available are Chs. Nisa Muhammad, Quaiser Abdullah, Mouhmadou Diagne and Maryam Sharrieff.

DEVELOPMENTS IN THE FIELD

What follows are some of the notable highlights from the broader field of Islamic Chaplaincy

- Huron University & Respect Graduate School partnered to host a virtual conference on the topic of Islamic Pastoral and Spiritual Care During the Pandemic which involved two days of rich programming during which six AMC members were represented; among the speakers: Chs. Lauren S Schreiber, Khurram Ahmed, Samsiah Abdul-Majid, Abdul-Malik Merchant, Zubair Yousif, Dr. Bilal Ansari
- Ch. Dr. Bilal Ansari contributed a chapter titled “Muslim Pastoral Theology: A Brief Reflection of Black Shepherds and Black Sheep” to the book Postcolonial Images of Spiritual Care: Challenges of Care in a Neoliberal Age (Wipf and Stock, 2020)
- Hartford Seminary began transitioning from the 48 credit MA in Islamic Studies & Christian-Muslim Relations and 24 credit Graduate Certificate in Islamic Chaplaincy to offering two MA degrees designed for chaplains: 36 Credit Masters of Arts in Chaplaincy and 36 Credit Masters of Arts in Interreligious Studies
- The Islamic Seminary of America partnered with United Theological Seminary of the Twin Cities to offer an accredited M.Div. in Islamic Chaplaincy
- Respect Graduate School, in partnership with Charles Sturt University (CSU), launched the Master of Arts in Islamic Studies and Clinical Pastoral Education (CPE) program accredited by CPSP.
- Boston Islamic Seminary received accreditation for their MA in Islamic Religious Leadership through the MA Board of Education with the intention of training, among others, chaplains
- American Islamic College received Candidacy Status for Accreditation with the Higher Learning Commission for their M.Div. in Islamic Chaplaincy
- Chs. Muhammad Ali, Omer Bajwa, Sondos Kholaki, and Jaye Starr launched the Islamic Chaplaincy Book Project compiling essays by Muslim chaplains for publication
- Ch. Muhammad Yasir Khan appointed to serve as chaplain to the California State Legislature, the first Muslim to serve in this capacity nationally
- Dr. Timur Yuskaev, Co-Director of Hartford Seminary’s Islamic Chaplaincy Program, published a chapter titled “God’s Mercy is Broader than This: Theological Sensibilities and Interreligious Theological Education” in the journal Critical Perspectives on Interreligious Education (Brill, 2020)
- AMC Institutional partner Bayan and HEART, in partnership with the Luce Foundation and Dr. Ingrid Mattson, launched a 15-hour online certification program for Imams, Chaplains, and community leaders called “Caring Communities: Taking on Gender-Based Violence.”
